1. Question: For the Technical Volume it says the page limitation is 30 pages. Does that number include course curriculum?
 - a. Answer: As specified in the table incorporated into provision 3.7 (Proposal Preparation – General Instructions, GSFC 52.215-201) (b) (1)), the Technical Volume is limited to 30 pages. Offerors are reminded that pages submitted in excess of the limitations specified will not be evaluated (see paragraph 5 of the same provision). The Technical Volume should only include information specifically requested in the solicitation. The page limitation ensures that offers are as brief as possible, concentrating on substantive information essential for proper evaluation. As described in provision 3.10 (Required Information to be Provided by Offeror, second paragraph under Technical Approach), the Technical Volume must only “summarize the content of the courses being offered and clearly identify how the training courses satisfy Federal Aviation Regulations and applicable FAA requirements”. Course curriculum, abbreviated or otherwise, is not specifically required.
